Requesting Your Child's Records

The IDEA gives you the right to look at all of your child's education records. This includes records about his or her identification, evaluation, educational placement, and special education program. You also have the right to ask the school to explain and interpret the records for you. You may ask the school to give you a copy of your child's records. They may charge you a reasonable fee for making a copy. (For more information about school records and your rights as a parent, see Question #22 in NICHCY's publication called Questions and Answers about IDEA.)

What might be some reasons to request copies of my child's school records?

School records contain valuable information about your child's strengths and areas of need. These records can provide a formal way of communicating between the professionals at your child's school, you, and other professionals who may work with your child. Here are some reasons you might have for requesting a copy of your child's records:

- Reviewing records lets you be sure that the records are correct and contain all necessary information.
- When your family is moving to a new school district, records may need to be sent.
- When you're taking your child for an independent evaluation, copies of past records may be useful.
- The records may help the staff at other programs your child attends (like camp, tutors, or in-hospital schools) design their activities.
- Postsecondary programs may need to see copies of your child's records.
- It's a good idea to have a copy for your home files, especially if your child is finishing school.
